XIV – SETTLEMENT CYCLES

Executed orders on the Beirut Stock Exchange (BSE) are irrevocable and are sent for settlement on T+3. In addition, all matched deliveries and receipts against payment due to be settled on T+3 are sent for settlement as well.

There are three settlement cycles in a business day except on Friday which has only two settlement cycles.

Monday to Thursday: 9:45, 11:45 & 13:45

Friday: 9:45 & 11:45

In the Real Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) system of the Central Bank, the main member's cash account balance at the beginning of a business day, is transferred to a subaccount called the General Liquidity Optimizing Module (General LOM) of this member's account.

There is also another subaccount to the main member's cash account called Midclear LOM. This is true for every member of the RTGS that requires Midclear to clear and settles its trades.

Midclear has the authority to debit or to credit all such Midclear LOM accounts. In order for a member to deposit or withdraw from Midclear LOM account, it must make transfers from or to their general LOM account.

In a settlement cycle Midclear LOM is first locked in order to freeze any change in the balances of these subaccounts and the balance of each member in Midclear LOM is obtained.

Next, settlement instructions are attempted to be settled by checking the security balance and the cash balance on a net basis.

Settlement instructions that show a deficient security balance or a deficient cash balance are removed from settlement and retried on the next settlement cycle. It should be noted that Midclear does not execute partial settlement. This means that if the deficiency of securities or cash is partially covered, Midclear does not settle the covered part.

Settlement instructions that have sufficient security and cash balances are settled both in Midclear books for securities and in the BDL RTGS Midclear LOM for cash. This results in the settlement of such transactions and is considered final and irrevocable.

At the end of the last settlement cycle, all remaining deficient BSE orders are suspended. All remaining settlement instructions that did not settle on the last settlement cycle and that are not BSE trades, are retried on the next business day.

Following that, Midclear LOM is unlocked.

All suspended BSE trades are notified to BSE in order for it to take further action.

It is important to note that:

Operation Type	Settlement
Public Outcry	T+3
Direct Transaction Outside Hall	T+3
Buy-In	T+1
Sell-Out	T+1
Auction	T+1

N.B.: “T” denotes the day of execution of the order on the regulated financial market.

If a participant of Midclear does not have enough funds or securities at settlement time, the trade will be removed from the settlement cycle and both counterparties will be informed. Failed trades will be retried in the next cycle. If at the end of the last cycle in the business day the transaction did not settle:

- If it’s an OTC trade, it will be retried in the next business day
- If it’s a BSE trade, it will be suspended, reported to the Beirut Stock Exchange (BSE) and the concerned participants
- If the deficiency is in the security leg, a buy-in may be initiated by the BSE and both trades (the original trade and the buy-in) are all settled in the same settlement cycle. It is important to note that such a suspension cannot be resolved via a normal trade.
- If the deficiency is in the cash leg, a sell-out may be initiated by the BSE and both trades (the original trade and the sell-out) are all settled in the same settlement cycle.

It is important to note that such a suspension cannot be resolved via a normal trade.

It should be noted that it’s up to Midclear’s discretion to decide which trades to fail in a way to minimize the domino effect of the trades.

XV – CANCELLATION AND REVOCATION OF INSTRUCTIONS

BSE trades, whether settled or unsettled, can never be revoked. Settlement instructions sent to Midclear by participants cannot be revoked if settled. However, if such settlement instructions are still unsettled they can only be revoked when both parties (deliverer and receiver) send cancellation instructions to Midclear.

Midclear systems and procedures do not accept unilateral revocation of unsettled settlement instructions. If such unilateral instructions are sent, they will be rejected and ignored.

It is important to note the following two cases:

- Midclear accepts postdated instructions for up to twenty business days in the future.
- Case 1: If a with matching settlement instruction is received without a counterparty matching instructions and remains so until the last settlement cycle of the settlement date, then it will be deleted at the end of the day.
- Case 2: If a matched settlement instruction, whose settlement date has been reached, then it will be deleted after the last settlement cycle of the tenth business day if it continues to be unsettled.

In both of the above cases members will be charged double the normal cancellation fee.
